Workload Increases with ERP Implementation

Dear Colleagues:

The excitement and energy of our CHES ERP (Enterprise Resource Planning) project are mounting as we get closer to the November 1 implementation launch with our partners Workday and CampusWorks. Together with our member colleges, we will create stronger educational experiences and pathways for our students; improve business processes and operations; and fully leverage institutional data for planning and decision making. We'll start by developing the solutions for finance, human resources and payroll.

You likely have noticed the increased activity among your coworkers and across campus. Those involved are busy with training and preparations. I have assigned them to the multiple cross-college teams that will ensure this project's success. We are grateful to have their expertise. They are and will continue to be laser focused on their responsibilities.

For more information about the project, please visit www.ches.edu. You'll find the teams, their members and their roles under About/Enterprise Resource Planning & Student Information System. For questions about {name of college}'s participation, contact CHES Program Manager {name at email, phone}.

Thank you for your patience and support as we kick off this project. It's going to be challenging, but will be well worth the effort for our students and our community.

Sincerely,

CHES Board Members
Presidents at CNM, CCC, NNMC, SFCC
